No, Avon will determine the $50 order based on sales after all discounts are included. Sales tax is not included in that total.

I know my customer placed an order and met the criteria, but it is not counting toward my goal. Why?

If a customer does not count, you will receive an email with the reason. There are several reasons this might occur.

- The order was placed but has not shipped yet. Orders will only count once they ship.
- The customer was disqualified from counting during the audit process.
- The customer did not select ship direct at checkout.

My customer placed two $50+ orders during the incentive period. Will that count as 2 customers towards my goal?

No, only one qualifying order will count per customer.

My customer placed a first order of $25 and a second order of $50, will they count?

Yes, since it is a unique customer with a $50 order.

How do I follow up with an online store customer?

Here are some ideas to engage with customers you don't always see face to face:

- Create a customer group on Facebook and invite them to join it.

- Share posts from Avon Social. You can even download a product image and text it to them.
- Send them an email with our newest products or your favorites.
- Give them a call and let them know about all our latest offers.
- Always include your online store link in all communications so your customers are attached to your online store.

In which Campaign will my customer's order count?

This is based on when the order ships. You should allow approximately 1-5 days for your customer's order to ship. The date used to calculate the campaign is 2 days after the ship date. For example, if their order shipped on February 4, 2019, then it is a Campaign 6 order.
